FAQ

Velamma Episode 47 Kickass Pdf Download

Devices used to gain attention at the surface should be a standard piece of equipment for every diver, regardless of certification level. Audible devices like whistles or air horns (devices that attach to the low-pressure inflator of the BCD) can be easily heard at night or in limited visibility conditions. For daytime use, include a visual signaling device like a signal mirror or surface marker buoy (safety sausage) in your equipment. As a professional, you need to be familiar with the latest devices on the market and incorporate them into all your courses.

Note to Instructor

It is recommended that students have the opportunity to see at least one example of an electronic dive computer.

- Log book (Adventure Log recommended.)
- Slates and Underwater Slate Pencils
- Dive float and flags
- Underwater lights — different types and models

Note to Instructor

It is recommended, but not required that: 1) this course be conducted in a PADI Dive Center or Resort or 2) a visit to a local PADI Dive Center or Resort be included in the course. This ensures that students see the type of facility in which professional equipment repairs take place and the extensive, specialized equipment or tools required to do such repairs correctly. It further ensures that students have the opportunity to see a wide variety of new, modern scuba equipment — including different brands and models — as part of the course.

2. PADI materials that may be used to teach this course
 - a. General materials and teaching aids:
 - Log Book (Adventure Log recommended)
 - PADI Instructor Manual
 - Student Record File
 - b. PADI reference materials:
 - The Encyclopedia of Recreational Diving
 - c. Recognition materials:
 - PIC envelopes
 - Specialty Diver wall certificates
 - Equipment Specialist chevrons
